Dear Potential Sponsor,

Retire With Coupons is a mission oriented business in Bloomington-Normal. We offer workshops to individuals wanting to learn how to use coupons and refunds effectively! We would like to make the training available through our local human service offices, such as WIC, DHS, and PATH, as well as parenting groups, and other companies and organizations where clients are walking a thin line between making too much money to get government assistance, but too little money to get by.

The niche we would love to fill is the people who are struggling from paycheck to paycheck and doing without necessities to make ends meet. This could include college students, young parents, single parents, the elderly, and others who are fighting to survive increased costs without increased incomes.

And, in order to help our community as a whole, Retire With Coupons donates 5% of all of our workshop and monthly subscription fees, as well as food and health & beauty items within our community on a monthly basis!

We are currently requesting sponsorships for several objectives! Because we are reaching out to families who may be struggling, we are requesting funding for individuals who want to learn the techniques of couponing to provide more financial stability for their families! Sponsorship dollars are used specifically for workshop fees, and monthly ongoing subscription fees which will enhance lives!

We offer monthly challenges to our subscribers, as well as community service involvement opportunities, such as our "Coupons for a Cause" and we'd like prizes for those who participate! Gift baskets, gift certificates, as well as full size products you sell are great prizes! Free admissions or free food products are also wonderful prizes! Other prizes welcomed and encouraged include life, parent, or business coaching, house cleaning services, painting services, hair salon and nail services or even pet sitting!

We're also looking for discount codes and coupons for our subscribers! This may include a certain amount off a purchase, free shipping for online merchants, or a free item when you buy an item!

Thank you for assisting us in reaching our goals to help others!

Warmly,
